At-large Representative

Mark Mortimore
Mortimore Funeral Home
Thermopolis, Wyoming

As a third-generation funeral director from a small town, I have benefitted greatly from dedicated mentors and a caring community. I am excited about the chance to put that compassion and leadership to good use as I seek to represent you. Integrity is the key; it will be the cornerstone value for me.

I also have been very engaged in a small business involving innovative technology. With this background, I hope to blend the best of both the “personal touch” and technological innovation as we develop programs and services to help our members work with families.

I’ve been most fortunate to live in a small state where “everyone knows everyone,” so the relationships we share with our elected leaders are strong. I have had the chance to visit with former Vice President Dick Cheney on numerous occasions and found those opportunities most inspirational. They underscore the tremendous value and importance of participation in our political process, for the good of our profession. I intend to make this a priority in my work for you.

The times we live in and work in are challenging, but by focusing on serving families with traditional strengths and innovative approaches, we can truly help families, grow our businesses and provide the citizens of our communities with the compassionate care they want and deserve.

I would greatly appreciate your support and would be most thankful for whatever assistance you might provide.
